A Gratifying Success.
The prosperity of a city's business is based upon the home spirit of its population. If this spirit is strong, the people are not at all troubled in finding what they want at home; and this is specially true where the merchants make the wants of their customers a study and carry in stock goods which cannot fail to attract and please, both as regards quality and price.

Abilene is happy in the possession of merchants who carry so large an assortment of the different kinds of goods that a trip to the city to buy things for the person or the home is a useless trouble and expense.

At the very head of these merchants stands the long-established and extensive firm of Hazlett & Co. The carpet room of this firm has won and justly deserves a reputation for containing all the different grades of carpets in varied and beautiful patterns. The most luxurious home can be furnished from this establishment just as easily as from the large cities, and from the immense number of carpets, curtains, portieres, window shades, etc., that the popular young salesman, Mr. John Bennett, has sent out from the carpet room would seem to indicate that this fact is appreciated by our people.

The unusually large stock of goods which was on hand in the carpet room at the beginning of the season has been reduced to so low a point that Dr. E. E. Hazlett left on Sunday for the eastern cities to buy a second large invoice of the latest patterns of Three-plys, Extra Supers, Body Brussels, Tapestry, Brussels, Moquette, Axminster and Velvet Carpets, Rugs, Ottomans, Hassocks, etc. These goods will begin to arrive in a few days, and the artistic buyer will find a realization of tastes and desire.

The people of Dickinson county will do well to go through Hazlett & Co.'s carpet room just for the pleasure of enjoying the artistic and beautiful display there made. And probably as important as the quality and beauty of the goods is the price at which they are sold. Carpets in any quality are made to fit the room and are put down by this firm for the same money that the unmade carpet can be bought for in Kansas City. This is a fact that the reader can easily verify for himself.

"Tibi seris, tibi melis," is the motto of the class of 1884, Abilene High School. "You sow for yourself, you reap for yourself," is a pretty good motto to go out into the world with, and the REFLECTOR hopes that the class will so use the seed time of life that when the time comes a golden time of joy and peace and blessings may be reaped. The class is composed of the following young ladies: Mildred Lewis, Anna Jacoby, Hattie Terrill, Jessie Anderson, Lillian Jenken, Minnie Sprung and Edith Tozer.

Many wheat fields of the county are said to be full of wheat, and it is stated that some fields will not be cut at all. If this is extensively true, Dickinson's wheat yield will not reach the enormous yield which was expected a week or two ago.

Members or friends of the Abilene Post, G. A. R., residing in the country who have evergreens or flowers to contribute for decorating on memorial day, will confer a favor on the ladies by leaving them at the Court House any time before Friday morning.

L. H. Faulkner & Co. have leased the store room now occupied by Irion & Armitage, and some time in August will open a complete line of boots and shoes. An arch way will connect this room with the clothing department.

"Farmer John" writes an interesting and striking communication for the REFLECTOR this week. His remarks on the recent failures in Wall street, the defeat of the Morrison bill and the attitude of the republican party, challenges the earnest attention of the reader.

County Superintendent Hornaday will discuss the question, "What shall superintendents advise with regard to the adoption of text books?" at the annual convention of Kansas county superintendents, which will meet at Emporia on the 10th of June and continue through the 12th.

An immense number of hogs and cattle were brought to the Abilene market last Monday. Monday evening a special train of 30 cars was made up here for the Kansas City market. The train was composed of 13 cars of hogs and 17 cars of cattle. What's the matter with Abilene as a stock market?

J. E. Evans, of Illinois, has come to Abilene and will make this city his future home. His wife is expected to arrive this week. Mr. Evans is a brother-in-law of Mr. Miller, of the firm of Miller & Thomas, and will take a position with them as assistant book-keeper and salesman. The REFLECTOR is glad to extend to so worthy a citizen as Mr. Evans a hearty welcome.

Capt. J. J. Rangan brought to the REFLECTOR office Tuesday a piece of coal which was a specimen from a coal find in the "black hills" of Florida township, one mile east of Keystone. The vein was discovered by boring for a well on the farm of a man whose name the Capt. did not remember. The vein is said to be six or seven feet thick. It is owned by Berry Bros., who will investigate the matter. The REFLECTOR hopes to be able to give fuller particulars next week. If a paying vein of coal has been discovered, Abilene will boom with a boom transcending any previous boom in her history.

Abilene Commandery No. 25, K. T., which has been working under a dispensation for the past two or three months, was duly constituted on Wednesday evening, this week, by Right Eminent Grand Commander Jacob DeWitt, of Salina. Quite a number of visiting Sir Knights from Salina; Junction City and Clay Center were present. The following are the officers installed: John J. Rangan, E. C.; G. C. Kenyon, General; Henry Lillis, G. C.; R. McCormack, Sec.; J. C. Quinn, S. W.; E. E. Hazlett, J. W.; M. Dowling, Treas.; W. B. Giles, Rec.; E. Olds, Stan. Bearer; Wm. Halliwell, Sword Bear; H. H. Floyd, Warden. The installation was very impressive and interesting, and was witnessed by a goodly number of Abilene, Salina, Junction City and Clay Center Sir Knights and their wives. After installation they adjourned to the Cottage Hotel where they had prepared a banquet of all the dainties, not only of the season, but of what art could add, and to say that it was done at the hands of Mrs. J. W. Gore, the landlady, only adds that it was delightfully excellent and managed with great perfection. During the season of mirth and flow of song, the following toasts were given and happily responded to: Sir C. J. McDuff, toast master. "The Grand Commandery of the state of Kansas." Response—Right Eminent Sir Jacob DeWitt, Grand Commander.

"Abilene Commandery, No. 25." Response—Eminent Commander Sir Jno. J. Rangan.

"Visiting Sir Knights." Response—Rev. Sir W. B. Clarke, Junction City. "Ancient Craft Masonry." Response—Sir M. M. Miller, Junction City.

"Kansas, the Great American Desert." Response—Sir Theo. C. Henry, Denver, Col.

"Our Wives, Daughters and Sweethearts." Response—Sir Chas. A. Miller, Sullivan, Ks.

The whole evening was fraught with much enjoyment and spoke volumes of the friendship and brotherly love with which the hearts of the Sir Knights are ever firmly interlaced. The occasion will long be remembered.

The Opera House was not large enough to hold all the people who wanted to listen to the memorial services last Sunday. The address by Rev. Mr. Herr, predicated on the scriptural text, "For greater love hath no man than this; that a man lay down his life for his friends," was pleasingly appropriate and of great excellence, being full of ripe, scholarly, christian thought. We may be pardoned for saying that the reverend gentleman surpassed the expectations of the audience and won the respect of all who heard him. The singing was a pleasing feature, and it is a great deal to say that the long services were not burdensome.

Industry.
From present appearances there will be one of the largest crops of wheat that was ever harvested in this part of Kansas. In fact the prospects for a general good crop were never more encouraging than now and the farmers are happy over the flattering prospects.

One of the great mineral discoveries near this place, in Keystone, Dickinson county, is a large coal vein which is said to be in thickness six feet or more, while boring for water. It is said to be only 45 feet below the surface. This will be an opening to more discoveries of the same kind. Let us have a railroad through here to Abilene and large investments will be made in opening up these mines. I forward to you for inspection a specimen of the coal.

One of those pleasant occasions and festivities of the friends of Mr. John Jacob Hook at the residence of the parents of his young bride, Sophia Grose, where festivities are indulged in for two weeks after the marriage; an old time honored custom with Germans. Mrs. Hook is the recipient of many handsome and useful presents from her numerous friends. R. V. P.

Hope Happiness.
Last Thursday and Friday the chief engineer of the railroad was drilling a school of young engineers who tried to find a better crossing over Turkey creek and if it was not true it was no go.

Mr. Robison & Co. (who ought to be represented in the REFLECTOR) have commenced business in their new store. We wish them a good share of patronage.

A company of Arabs were in town a few days ago looking for work. Two of them were dressed in Egyptian uniform.

Mr. Thurston, our lively man, was happy to give a ride to our chief engineer, called by telegram, to New York with other directors. Mr. Ellis left Abilene Friday noon, and the party of surveyors after crossing Turkey creek, returned to their camp.

We are now waiting further developments of railroad affairs in New York, and we are satisfied with our Hope.

We emphatically deny the rumor that the railroad is going two miles south of Hope and brand the rumor as a malicious lie to stop Hope's growth. At the same time we are glad to be much advertised through infernal mouth. Voltaire's maxim was, "Lye, lie hardily."

Chapman Chips.
The dime social for the benefit of the Congregational society of this place, held last Thursday evening at the residence of A. J. Poor, is pronounced by all present as one of the most pleasant of the many agreeable socials held during the past year. We presume that the half mile walk out there added to the enjoyment of the evening for the boys and girls, but we wonder if a certain couple kept as far apart coming home as they did going out. It may be all right, but we never could catch on to the fun in walking five feet away from your solid girl.

The band boys are putting in good time preparing for Decoration Day. Older hands will have to brace up if they don't want our infants to walk off with the laurels.

That new building of Patrick Sheeran's on the south side is completed, and is, without any exception, as fine a store room as can be found in the county. Sheeran deserves credit for erecting such good substantial buildings, and thus inducing business men from other places to come into our town.

Our old friend Jacob Marts came near losing a valuable cow last week. She swam the river, but struck a steep bank, could not get out and was about gone up when some neighbors got to her in a boat and towed her down stream to a landing place.

Mrs. B. R. Phillips is visiting friends in the east, and during her absence Brack and Ed are bachelors. They say it is lots of fun, but we notice they drop into the old reliable Kansas House for a square dinner on Sunday.

Work has commenced on the new front for the City Hotel. When that is completed Chapman will have a good hotel in the right place, for it is a fact that Mr. and Mrs. Banning know how to please their guests. We speak from past experience.

J. C. Scott & Co. are busy placing their new goods in shape in Sheeran's new building. They have a first class stock of hardware and agricultural implements. Being live business men, we predict for them an immense trade.

On Sunday morning Rev. Wilson, of the M. E. church, preached to an appreciative audience on the subject, "Services vs. Service." Mr. W. handled the subject with his characteristic energy and plainness, sending the truth right home to the hearts of his hearers. He is winning golden opinions from the public generally by his sociable, manly ways.

Rev. Herr, of the Congregational society, addressed his audience on Sabbath evening from Galatians 5: 6. Mr. Herr is a fluent speaker and handles his subjects with skill and power, and we do not doubt he will do a good work in our town.
